Interior Layout and Framing

“Rome wasn’t built in a day”

Zigg is now ready to start with interior finishing. The first step in this final stage of the project is laying out the wall locations. This job is done by a layout person who carefully measures and “chalks” where the walls will eventually go. Once layout is completed, the framers will start installing their metal studs and the mechanical and electrical rough-in will then proceed. At this time we will conduct our ‘pre-board’ inspections and following that we are cleared to start installing the drywall.

FUN FACT

Chalk lines have been a tool used in construction throughout the world since Ancient Egypt!!
